

Distributed Learning Website Criteria

Distributed Learning School/Board of Education websites will:

1. Provide Learners a direct link to the School's contact information.
2. Provide information about the type of program and services offered to Learners.
3. Provide information about the courses available.
4. Provide information about how to enroll in a course or school.
5. Align with the directives outlined in the Distributed Learning General Policy about the use of Third Party Services.
6. Align with the Distributed Learning BC Residency Policy.
7. Contain a clear statement about being an educator-led program that provides quality services to Learners.
8. Learners must be able to link directly from the Ministry's Course Finder to the School's website, preferably where and how to register for the program and/or course(s) of interest.